2011 Tri Village Rotary Christmas Gift Exchange

View of Last Week

Visiting Rotarians: None

Invocation: David Varda

Guests: Ben Person-guest of Doug Torrance;

Games of Chance: Bob Byrd picked up the dough. Tim Kohr pulled a 3 of hearts.

Happy Bucks: Tim Huffman shared more Holiday happiness by announcing that Santa and his reindeer were joined at Tremont Center by the Salvation Army food truck as a thank you for our bell ringing efforts. Matt Rappolt had an “unhappy” buck for the school administrators who scheduled the students off from school for the week before Christmas. Bob Argo was happy for a Business

First article featuring him with a photo of him including his Rotary pin. Also, another buck for a Life and Arts magazine article featuring a local Holocaust survivor’s art display. Steve Hess paid a buck to share a Rotary coin story. David Varda had a couple for the successful Mid Ohio Food-bank fundraiser and for seeing Steve Sims on the Big Ten Network’s broadcast of the OSU basketball game. Jim Edwards announced his 9th wedding anniversary to the lovely Betsy Edwards and that she is pregnant with a girl! Gloria Heydlauf had a couple as well for her last school board meeting after 12 years and for the whole family coming to Christmas dinner.

Sergeant At Arms: Bob Byrd decreed the Club was ready for Christmas and let the Exchange begin!

Announcements: Jason Cully announced Ben Person has been accepted as a new member and will be inducted in January.

Speaker: The annual Gift Exchange. Pictures say a thousand words...

Welcome to your first Gift Exchange Kathy Miller...oops, were those plastic cups and an empty Jack Daniels bottle?!

How am I going to explain the Frosty headgear to Mrs. Claus?

Peggy Tidwell is too nice to suggest that this tie may only be useful for leaving as a souvenir in a certain Arizona high-country watering hole.

Some things are just too good for words...

A tie with pictures of Hess wearing a tie...and you thought snipes didn't exist...

New member to be Ben Person actually seemed happy with his gift, but was the first victim of a gift snatch.

Kate Hemleben styling with flashing Seasonal appropriate earrings and the gift option of choice...as it has been for every Exchange...a bottle full of adult beverage.

The Good (Hess?)...

Tim Kohr thinking, "Winter nights at Lake Choctaw will never be the same again!"

The Bud (there's that alcohol theme again)...

And the Ugly (I don't know but a nice tie can work wonders).
